

Supporting Your Teen Upon Results Release

Tips and Resources for Parents

Providing Social and Emotional Support

Success in life is more than academic achievements and results. Be there for your teen as he or she receives results and offer support through the range of emotions that may arise. Affirm your teen's efforts. This will allow your teen to manage self-expectations. Assure your teen that the O-Level results do not determine his or her self-worth and future success.

Look out for out-of-character behaviours in your teen. Should common signs of stress persist, do seek help and advice from your teen's School Counsellor or a trusted healthcare professional.

You may also wish to inform your teen's new school on his or her well-being so that appropriate support can be given.
